ASSEMBLY TICKET.

FIRST DISTRICT.

JOHN SMILEY, of Plymouth.

After this campaign there will not be enough democrats left to keep the grave of their party green.

Eleven million voters are watching the election in Maine to-day. The battle will be with the strong—the republicans.

The handsomest political aggregation of the campaign is Mr. St. John and Mrs. Bova Lockwood—both candidates for president.

The democrats are rolling the barrel in the campaign, but on the principle that a rolling stone gathers no moss, the barrel gathers no votes.

It is claimed that Tammany has promised to support Cleveland. It made the same promise to Hancock, and lo! where was he? In the political ditch.

There are many democrats who are seriously wondering what Chairman Barnum is doing in the campaign. He is going to let the democratic party kick itself to death.

"An omelet made of owl's eggs is said to be a cure for drunkenness, as it makes a drunken man sick." That is the kind of an omelet the democrats are eating this campaign.

When a man has eaten cold vitals at the democratic table for twenty-four years, don't blame him if his conscience and his appetite take him to the republican party. Let all such come to the republican feast.

The contributions of the brewers to the democrats in Ohio in October for the democrats is placed at $350,000, and is in addition to the sum to be raised among the saloon keepers and from the Standard Oil company.

Tammany is a sort of a mule in the democratic campaign. It backs one way and kicks another. However, the mule and Tammany are not the most stubborn things the democrats have to contend with. Their record beat the mule and Tammany all to pieces.

One of the reasons why so many democrats are joining the republican process is that they are tired of marching to the slow and solemn music of a democratic funeral. They want inspiring music, fun and victory, and have joined the republican party to get them.

The mule and the cocoon mystery explained by the Philadelphia Press: "Thad Pound, of Wisconsin, a gentleman who would have become one of our greatest statesmen had nature endowed him with the requisite assortment of brains, has come out against Blaine. We are privately advised that Pound reached the conclusion that the republic was bound to go to eternal smash some four years ago, when he failed to get a place in Garfield's cabinet."

Cleveland is going to have a big time when he goes to Buffalo to be welcomed home. It will be a "spontaneous welcome," and a sort of surprise to the governor. His friends in Buffalo have been engaged in working up this surprise for two weeks, and expected to have it ready last week, but there was some hitch in the glow of warm feeling for the governor, and two weeks more will be required to make the "spontaneous welcome" a success. In the meantime, Mr. Cleveland is anxiously waiting for the telegram announcing the surprise ready, and telling him to come on the first train. Of course, he will be called out unexpectedly, and will make an impromptu speech.

There must be some pretty cold comfort for the independents in the fact that the straight out democratic papers are urging Mr. Cleveland, should he be elected, to stick to the democratic idea of to the voters belong the spoils. This class of papers are now claiming that Mr. Cleveland must represent the democratic party, and not the republican bolters who do not maintain a consistent course in any two years. They close after every side issue and are as uncertain when voted as is the Irishman's flea. Here is the platform of the democratic papers like the Cincinnati Enquirer, the Chicago Times, the Buffalo Courier, the Albany Argus, and other leading organs of the party: "The independent republicans must not expect to control Mr. Cleveland, should he be elected. Under a democratic administration the public places, high and low, should be filled with democrats, with a proper and proportionate consideration for such elements outside of the democratic party as may render direct assistance in electing a democratic president. Such a distribution of the public favors would accomplish the intentions of the people in voting for a change of administration, and the popular purpose could be fully accomplished in no other way."

Mrs. Emma D. E. N. Southworth, the author of "Self-Raised; or, From the Depths," published this day by T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, considers it to be the best work she has ever written. In it, the hero rises from the depths of poverty, misery and humiliation, and to trace his progress, step by step, has been with her a labor of love. There is a curious blending of realism and romance in this work—the result, it may be, of the leading incidents having occurred in actual life. The interest is kept up and intensified by the dramatic positions throughout the whole work. It is a moral story, and one which addresses itself as giving an example of perseverance under difficulties, and ultimate success. It is, as Mrs. Southworth says, her best and greatest work, for it is strongly marked by all the merits of her style, is an exceedingly interesting and powerful story, and should be read by everybody. It is published in a large duodecimo volume of 668 pages, with a view of Prospect Cottage, and its surroundings, the home of Mrs. Southworth, on the Potomac, at the unprecedented low price of seventy-five cents a copy.

HOW THE BATTLE WILL GO.

A short time ago the Gazette stated that the bets on the general result of the election were 100 to 80 in favor of Blaine, taking into account the wagers in the twenty large cities of the Union. The political indications are such at the present time that the sporting men are more willing to take their chances with Blaine than with Cleveland, and money of those who wager to make are putting up their money on the republican ticket.

The reason of this is that surveying the political prospects from a purely arithmetical point of view, throwing sentiment entirely out of the question, the election of Blaine and Logan is a foregone conclusion. There are two speculations regarding the result next November, one or the other of which will certainly prove correct, and either of which will elect Blaine. The national republican committee has called the roll of states, and in our case, makes the result as follows:

California..... 8
Nevada..... 8
Colorado..... 3
New Hampshire..... 1
Vermont..... 1
Illinois..... 23
Indiana..... 15
Oregon..... 3
Connecticut..... 12
Rhode Island..... 3
Massachusetts..... 6
Vermont..... 1
Michigan..... 21
Wisconsin..... 11
Minnesota..... 21
Missouri..... 21
Total..... 210

This is 11 more votes than are necessary to elect Blaine. If New Jersey should be considered doubtful, and that should be stricken from the list, still Blaine should have 203. As to Connecticut, there is no doubt. Is there any doubt as to Indiana? Not a particle. It must be borne in mind that Indiana is as strong a protection state as is Ohio or Pennsylvania. Its manufacturing interests are extensive and are still growing, and for this prosperity it is indebted to the protective system of the republican party, and the people there understand it.

The other speculation made by the committee includes New York, which, all told, will give Blaine 214, leaving Cleveland 153—the product of a solid south. But there are 7 chances out of 10 that New York will go republican. They on the other hand, there is bright prospect that West Virginia will go republican, and Virginia is not by any means sure for the democrats. All these things combine to make the republican prospects exceedingly bright—but not only this, it makes the election of Blaine and Logan one of the certainties of the campaign.

LIFE INSURANCE AND SUICIDE.

For a good many years in the experience of life insurance companies they refused to pay the losses on the lives of those who died by their own hands. Within the past few years this refusal has caused much anxiety to the families of those who have taken themselves out of the world in consequence of diseased minds. There was no justice in the rule adopted by most life insurance companies of confessing all such cases in the court, on the ground that when a man committed suicide he did it with the intention of defrauding the companies; and popular prejudice at once began to spread, and at last one company after another began to treat the claims of dead men's families with more respect; and now, nearly every prominent life company in the country, has adopted the wise plan of paying the losses on suicides without litigation and trouble.

P. H. McLogan offered resolutions indicating the Republican national ticket, which were adopted by most life insurance companies, of confessing all such cases in the court, on the ground that when a man committed suicide he did it with the intention of defrauding the companies; and popular prejudice at once began to spread, and at last one company after another began to treat the claims of dead men's families with more respect; and now, nearly every prominent life company in the country, has adopted the wise plan of paying the losses on suicides without litigation and trouble.

Recently a broker of New York killed himself, while in a fit of temporary insanity growing out of business losses.

His life was insured for a large amount in a number of companies, the policies having been taken several years ago.

A short time back he would have left his family nothing but law-suits; now they are saved that addition to their sorrow.

The company most largely interested has already paid its share, nearly $50,000, and the other companies are expected to do the same, with the exception of one in which the policy was written within two years.

"It is a waste of time to contest suicide claims now-days," an agent is quoted in a New York paper. "Most companies never think of doing it. The only protection is to make special provision in the policy that the claim will not be paid if the man takes his own life."

Within a specified time, either two or three years."

The reform practice is certainly most commendable. Suicides are becoming alarmingly numerous. They are numbered by the thousands every year, and are increasing in greater proportion than the population. The practice of ignoring claims where the insured came to his death by his own hands, was one of gross injustice, for no man can be held responsible for his acts when his reason is completely dethroned. Insanity is a terrible disease, and many who are insured in our leading companies are failing victims to its power. To throw all such claims aside on the score that the companies are not legally bound to pay the losses, tends to bring such companies in disrepute, besides outraging the family of the unfortunate suicides.

BUTLER in Minnesota.

NOTRE DAME, Sept. 8.—G. Butler arrived Saturday morning. A large crowd received him with enthusiasm. He talked for an hour and half, repeating his utterances made elsewhere. He speaks in New York and New England until October, when he will come west again. He proposes to stop Michigan in a special tour. He will be on the stump continuously till election.

THE GIFT OF SPEECH.

A Great Gift to the American Citizen in Presidential Years.

Specimen of Its Use by Some Masters—Hendricks at Muncie—Anti-Cleveland Chicago Democrats—Carl Schurz.

MUNCIE, Ind., Sept. 8.—There were more Democrats in this city Saturday than ever before in its history. The occasion was not a great one, being but a Democratic county convention, but it was made notable by the presence of some of the most prominent leaders in the state, first among whom was Ex-Governor Hendricks. Ex-Governor Gray was present.

Political Gossip.

Governor Hamilton called to the Republicans of Danville and surrounding country Saturday evening.

Hon. Carter H. Harrison and Gen. J. C. Black addressed a large meeting at Freeport, Ills., Saturday. In the evening there was a torchlight procession.

A. Weller has been renominated for congress by the Democrats and Greenbackers of the Fourth Iowa district. The reform Democrats of the First Louisiana district placed Charles H. Hunt in the field.

In reference to the suggested joint debate between Calkins and Gray, Ex-Governor Hendricks said he did not think it would be held. He thought it was not necessary. Joint debates were an assistance to the weaker party in a campaign, but the Democratic party could go along without them this year.

George R. Davis, one of the Republican candidates for congress in the Third Illinois district, in reply to the recent letter of his Republican opponent, proposing to let the national committee decide which of them should make the next move, said that a primary election was to be held in the county, and said the remedy was to change the government by electing Democrats to take charge of affairs. Speaking of himself, he said: "A paper the other day found fault with me because, with my hat in my hand, I stood in the presence of my countrymen and asked of them their support, and if they fail to find any other charge against me except that they may go to 'Hullax.' [Laughter.]

"If success for my party does not mean better government, better protection, and a more honest administration, I do not want it to succeed; but upon faith only I have a right to ask you to try once more."

The ex-governor predicted a Democratic victory in November, and said he did not believe his hours had any doubt of it. In the evening a reception was had, and the enthusiasm was kept up until midnight.

This is 11 more votes than are necessary to elect Blaine. If New Jersey should be considered doubtful, and that should be stricken from the list, still Blaine should have 203. As to Connecticut, there is no doubt.

The Latest from All Sides.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 8.—On Saturday night, about one thousand people gathered at Schlitz park, to listen to Carl Schurz. During the afternoon Joseph Brucker, a young German who wrote a reply to Schurz's speech against Blaine, saw Mr. Schurz and arranged for a joint debate. About 3,000 of the assembled throng was all that could be squeezed into the hall when the speeches were made, and the thermometer stood at 100. It was evident from the first that Schurz had the upper hand, and that the audience was in full sympathy with him. The audience was greatly interested in the speech of Mr. Schurz, and when he had finished, the audience gave a hearty round of applause.

John A. Logan, speaker of the house, was present, and when he had finished, the audience gave a hearty round of applause.

The Crop of Hogs.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 8.—A leading pork-packer remarked that the hog crop in the region tributary to Cincinnati would be late this season in coming in, owing to the partial failure of the corn crop on account of the drought. He said that farmers have been obliged to let their hogs go along as best they could, and it will be late before they begin to feed them. As a result, the price of hogs will be somewhat higher in this market than in either Chicago or St. Louis, and the packers here will be placed at a slight disadvantage.

A Boy's Headlessness.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 8.—A special from Ringgold, Ga., says that the 10-year-old son of J. N. Hugie, of that place, poised powder from a flask into the fire, when the flask exploded. Maggie, daughter of Mr. Hugie, and the boy were both so badly burned they will die.

KING'S EVIL

Was the name formerly given to Scrofula because of a superstition that it could be cured by a king's touch. The world is wiser now, and knows that

SCROFULA

can only be cured by a thorough purification of the blood, and this is effected through the action of acids taken through generation after generation. Among its earlier symptomatic developments are Eczema, Cutaneous Eruptions, Tumors, Bells, Carbuncles, Erysipelas, Tuberculosis, Nervous Diseases, Tu-berculous Collagen, &c. It is allowed to continue, Rheumatism, Scrofulous Catarrh, Kidney and Liver Diseases, Tubercular Consumption, and various other dangerous or fatal maladies, are produced by it.

DOWNIE'S DEAD BROTHER.

He Takes a Last Look at "Poor Willie's" Corpse.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Charles Downie, who shot and killed his brother William on Friday afternoon last week, was given the privilege of going to the house to see his murdered brother before the remains were removed to the grave. The prisoner went in time to get paid on Saturday stood outside the big iron doors Sunday and eagerly discussed the probabilities of the bank being able to open for business at 10 o'clock or any other time Monday. Many predicted that the bank would not open at all. The directors replied to direct questions on this point, language being simple, it was evident that the business had been abandoned as the atmosphere would only bring on continuation of the run. Director Stearns said that no bank of discredit in the country, let alone one thus impaired, could stand such a strain. The bank examiner will make an examination, and the directors will be guided by his advice in regard to the resumption of business. "They don't open, or give some satisfaction to de-positors," said a fat keeper, "there will be another." The people have got mad that they would only stand any fooling from the directors.

restorative action to the vital organs and rejuvenating the entire system. This great potency, carefully and scientifically compounded. Its formula is generally known as the "Eferium" formula, and the physicians constantly prescribe ANTON'S SARSAPARILLA as it.
